Dear Researcher,

I came across your research paper [INSERT TITLE] and felt that your work is remarkable and significant. This research can indeed prove to be vital for fellow researchers and scientists working in the same domain.

Since some of your research interests match with our journal domain, may I know more about your current research work? Like we can also develop a network of eminent researchers of your stream worldwide.

As your research work comes under the scope of our journals, I cordially invite you to send your future research papers for publication to Springer International Publishing, DOI: 12.18543/SIP. It is an international, refereed, peer-reviewed, indexed and print journal. Since you are an invited author, the publication fee is not applicable to you. In other words, your forthcoming paper will be published on an entirely open access platform, without any payment. We are publishing various journals covering most of the disciplines of biochemical engineering, chemistry, medical and management matters, natural and human sciences since more than a decade for thousands of universities and authors from 153 countries.

I await your favorable response at the earliest to book review slot in upcoming issue of Xth July 20XX.

Regards,

Dr. F.R. Audulent

CONCERNED ABOUT PUBLISHER’S RELIABILITY?

Use the whitelist
Still concerned?